

Model LPD 100: throughput 100 lbs./hr.

I'll never buy a desiccant dryer again.

I started out looking for a low maintenance dryer and surprisingly got a low pressure vacuum dryer that changed our business.

It might seem incredible, but Maguire vacuum dryer users discover benefits that they never imagined. "As a small to mid-sized custom molding shop doing 12 to 15 mold changes daily, we were looking for fast turnaround, less maintenance and a reliable, dependable dryer," states Rich Dommel of True Precision Plastics. "Truth is, I'm skeptical of new items, you've got to prove to me that it'll work because we're very demanding running everything from ABS to Zytel® – A to Z, in a non-climate controlled environment."

True Precision Plastics found that they could drastically cut their drying time with the Maguire vacuum dryer. With a cold start-up it takes only about 40 minutes to dry material as opposed to desiccant dryers that take up to 4 or 5 hours. They also could eliminate bothersome dew point checks and surprisingly accelerate turnaround time of last minute customer requests. Rich Dommel says. "Our customers are very demanding. They make us jump through hoops. With the Maguire dryer, we can turn around a customer request in a couple of hours and have parts on their way long before our old dryers would have even warmed up. Now there's competition in the plant for who gets the Maguire because everyone knows that reaction time and customer service is what our business is all about. I really believe in these dryers. I'll never buy a desiccant dryer again."
